DETAILED ACTION

This is the first Office Action for the serial number 10/079,102, LOW COST OPTOMECHANICAL MOUNT FOR PRECISELY STEERING/POSITIONING A LIGHT BEAM, filed on 11/8/02.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent # 5,800,311 to Chuang in view of US Patent # 5,353,655 to Mishler.

Chuang teaches the system (figure 2) comprising a sphere (40) adapted for mounting an optical element (LED) in the sphere, having an opening shaped, a housing (11) adapted to receive the sphere, a magnet (34) attached to the housing and magnetically attracted to the sphere. The system further includes a cover (60) attached to the housing.

Chuang teaches the magnet but fails to teach plurality of magnets. Mishler teaches plurality of magnets (41'). It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have added additional magnets to Chuang's system as taught by Mishler to provide additional control of sphere using additional magnetic force thereon.

Art Unit: 3632

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 18 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 1-5, 7-14 and 19-20 are allowed.

In regard to claims 1-5, 7-14 and 19-20, the prior art fails to teach the system further comprising a lid attached to the housing to apply a downward force upon the first set of balls, sphere, and second set balls. In regards to claim 18, the prior art fails to teach the system comprises a spring attached to the cover for applying a downward force upon the sphere.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 15 and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

In response to applicant's argument (Appeal filed on 7/22/06) that Chuang is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Chuang teaches the optomechanical system for supporting the LED (43) as explained in specification (col. 1, lines 66-67 and col. 2, lines 1-5). The LED is secured in the sphere/rotor (40, as shown in figure 2) and that when the rotor rotates, the LED emits light to indicate the speed of rotation for rotor. LED is an optical element being secured in optomechanical system (sphere/rotor). Therefore, Chuang invention is analogous to applicant's invention.
